

About Bent Tram A/S

Bent Tram A/S was formed in May 1986 (formerly named Bent Tram Consultants A/S). We manufacture and supply highly specialized equipment for quality assurance and process control as well as for research & development.

All our products represent the state of the art, providing an easy-to-use environment and superior accuracy in testing objects.

Tram-QA software is a unique modular system designed for detailed and professional recording and presentation of quality data - a must for companies being certified for the ISO 9000 series. Due to our know-how on this area, we offer ourselves as partners in any cooperation concerning Quality Control.

We have supplied such equipment for individual companies as well as large international groups like Rockwool, Danfoss, Knauf, Uponor and Gyproc. You find our equipment in many countries - from Australia to Norway. All equipment is supplied with software in the local language.
